In Washington

(Special to the Courier)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Apr. 27.—Bristol was represented Wednesday when material, supplies and textile conversion problems were discussed by the carpet and rug manufacturing industries advisory committee at its organizational meeting with the National Production Authority, here.

Dwight Lawton, of Thomas L. Leedom Co., Bristol, Pa., and other industrial committee members reported they are having some difficulty in procuring sufficient quantities of synthetic fibers, jute yarns and cotton yarns to maintain carpet and rug production.

They reported to the N. P. A. that a tight supply situation in wool arises from pricing, and that the January and February imports of carpet wool in 1951 ran about half that of January and February, 1950.

N. P. A. told the Bristol and other executive committee members that increased 1951 cotton acreage should result in an easing of the cotton linters, and supply staple rayon fibers used in carpet weaving.

Carpet manufacturers who convert to production of cotton duck said the Quartermasters Corps' temporary suspension of bid invitation on cotton duck presents them with the problem of knowing whether to continue duck production or convert to rug and carpet weaving.

N. P. A. advised these producers to continue to make cotton duck as this material has wide commercial as well as military uses.

N. P. A. further suggested that DO-97 rated orders will absorb much of this production for maintenance, repair and operating supplies. N. P. A. reported that integration.

THE WAR

TOKYO, Apr. 27.—(INS)—A powerful Chinese Communist flanking drive by spearheads of 300,000 troops forced U. N. defenders back to a line only ten miles north of Seoul today and all civilians were ordered to flee the tottering South Korean capital. The order for the third mass civilian evacuation of the city since the war began last June was issued by President Syngman Rhee's cabinet from its emergency capital of Pusan on Korea's southeast coast. Five high officials of the Korean Republic's government flew from Pusan to Seoul to supervise the removal of an estimated 400,000 residents—an exodus which already had begun before the formal evacuation decree was issued.

FIRST AND SECOND
TROPHIES TO BE GIVENChas. Richman Tells Youth
Week Committee Trophies
Are Ordered

ROUTE IS REVERSED

Trophies will be awarded to the first and second place winners of all Youth Week activities, according to a report made last night at a meeting held in the Elks' Home, Radcliffe street, with Chairman Thomas James presiding.

Charles Richman, chairman of the trophy committee, stated that the trophies were ordered and would be ready for display in the various wards and districts by the 15th of May. The decision to award the large trophies to the first and second place winners was made by the steering committee of Youth Week.

It was also announced that the parade route would be reversed from last year, forming on Leedom's field and marching through the borough to the Bristol High School field, where the finals of the Youth Week activities will be held.

The parade will be led by "Smoketown" from the Goodwill Hose Company which will have its own musical unit. Other bands and bugle corps of this area will also be contacted to parade.

Jerry Bloom and Harry McClister, who are in charge of the track and field meet, have decided to drop the 880 and mile runs from the meet because of their being too much of a strain on the youngsters. The Terchon Post, V. F. W., volunteered to conduct the marbles contest. Its offer was accepted.

APPRAISAL OF VANDENBERG

If in some far off realm there is a divinity which calls the roll of humanity, and judges man each by the effect he has had upon the world about him, you may be sure that there will be surprises aplenty in the names which, like Abou Ben Adhem's, lead all the rest.

Measured by his impact upon political institutions and trends, the late Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg is far and away one of the most important figures of the past half century.

Whether his effect was for the better or the worse is quite another question, about which this generation may have its opinions, but which must wait the unfolding of much history before it is completely answered.

Waiving the question of moral judgments, it is interesting to make an appraisal of the immense consequences which flowed from the decisions and actions of Senator Vandenberg. It is still more interesting to note the manner in which these were brought about.

Among the most significant of the accomplishments which almost certainly would have failed to come about had it not been for the Michigan Senator, are such as these:

A. Adoption of the United Nations pact in virtually its original form.

B. Adoption of the Greek Program, the Marshall Plan, the EAC program and the Atlantic Pact, all in substantially the form requested by President Truman.

C. Salvaging of the New Deal's free-trade experiment (Trade Agreements Act) in 1947.

D. Rescue of the Truman Administration and the Democratic party from collapse during 1947.

E. Re-election of President Truman in 1948.

Consider what this list implies. First, these events meant the complete reversal of political trends in the United States which had been developing for ten years prior to 1948. The Republican Party "turned the corner" in 1948—turned it, for example, in Pennsylvania by the reapportionment of the State Government from the Democrats. For eight years, the Republican strength nationally rose like a tide, up to Almost 700 Boy Scouts and Explorers of the Bucks County Council participated in a series of seven first aid meets held in the districts of the council.

Over 150 Scouts and judges from industry, rescue squads, first aid and Red Cross groups also took part.

This activity is one of a series of activities carried on in the council each year to aid the unit leader in his training of the boys and young men in Scouting.

The first aid meet is staged with the patrols of the troops entering without knowledge of the problems that will be presented. The problems are all practical ones which may be met by the Scout, and the high scores of the units taking part denoted excellent preparation for the event.

At Luncheon

DRIVE TO END MAY 10

DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 27.—Bucks county volunteers in the 1951 Cancer Crusade reported here yesterday at a luncheon at the Fountain House as guests of the director of the Bucks county unit, James Work, president of the National Agricultural College.

Tribute to the outstanding job being done by the various communities was paid the workers by Barbara Seofield, executive secretary of the Bucks county unit.

Director Work and others in attendance expressed the opinion that with Bucks county far ahead of last year's crusade campaign, the county's quota of $11,000 should be reached if not surpassed by the end of the campaign on May 10.

Doylestown, Borough, for instance, with a quota of $1,200 this year, has already turned in over $700 as a result of the outstanding organization work of Mrs. Betty Kohler. A new district this year—Southampton—has $270 and the trustees and officers of the National Agricultural College, and faculty.

RFC Eases Loans
For Kaiser-Frazer

WASHINGTON, Apr. 27.—The Reconstruction Finance Corp., said today the Kaiser-Frazer Corp. had asked its permission to borrow $25,000,000 from private banks to finance "a big defense production program."

W. Elmer Harber, RFC chairman, said the auto manufacturing firm was seeking "minor amendment" of the terms of its loans from RFC to permit it to incur the additional debt.

Subsequently, the RFC announced that to facilitate the private credit, it had agreed to extend the maturities of two outstanding RFC loans totaling $25,000,000 to Kaiser-Frazer.

Kaiser-Frazer is now making planes as well as autos.

Harber said he made public the request in an effort to spike a rumor that the RFC planned to foreclose on the Kaiser-Frazer mortgage.

Club Stewards, Fire Company, Veterans' Groups, Social and Fraternal Organizations Representatives Are Ordered to Get Rid of Gambling Devices Within A Week — Some Questions Are Asked, But Order is Emphasized to Get Rid of Machines.

(SPECIAL TO COURIER)

DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 27.—Another crack-down on gambling in Bucks County was landed yesterday when police chiefs and representatives of fire companies, social organizations, veteran groups and clubs were summoned to the office of District Attorney Willard S. Curtin.

The first session was devoted to police chiefs, where in no uncertain terms the chiefs were told to get gambling devices out of their respective communities. District Attorney Curtin, and his assistant, Donald V. Vanartsdalen, along with Bucks County Detective Fred Kohler, were present.

The conference was held in the office of Curtin and the police were told that slot-machines in Bucks county have gotten out-of-hand. It was stated there are entirely too many of them in the county and that they must be out within a week's time. It was given to understand that if the slot-machines are not out within the specified time the police chiefs will be brought in and asked to explain why.

Following the talk with the police chiefs, the representatives of clubs, fire companies, veterans groups, fraternal organizations and other groups were summoned. There were between 50 and 60 at this meeting. They were told to get rid of gambling devices.

Some of the representatives present were perplexed over what to do as their organizations are carrying large mortgages and financial obligations and the revenue from gambling devices have been depended upon to finance various projects.

The groups were told to get rid of slot machines, fish bowls, punch boards and every type of gaming devices. Curtin told both the police chiefs and the operators of clubs and fire companies that "the take from these various forms of gaming now totals $250,000 each month, or an aggregate of $3,000,000 each year."

"This," he said with emphasis, "must be stopped immediately. The

Young Woman Attacked As She Awaits A Taxi

Philadelphia—An attractive blonde secretary was knifed and criminally assaulted today by two thugs who accosted her on the outskirts of Fairmount Park while she was waiting for a taxicab. The victim, Miss Elizabeth Cambrowski, 28, told police she was attacked shortly after she left a boy friend's car following an argument. She said she spent the early part of the evening in a night club with Frank Smedley, 35, of Camden, and they quarreled on the way home. She insisted he let her out of the car, she said, and he complied. Then as she waited for a taxi, the two thugs approached her and slashed her when she screamed. They beat her and dragged her some 100 feet into the park and were finally frightened off by Walter MacDonald who heard her outcries and took her to a hospital.

OPEN LETTER TO MY CUSTOMERS

by Leon Plavin

I want the people who shop my store and shop the Bristol area to know the why and wherefore of this sale. Believe me when I tell you that I have never run such a sale as this before, and we won't be able to again, because we can't work on a non-profit basis and stay in business.

I am giving these sensational trade-in allowances for these reasons:

My construction is no different from the way constructions ordinarily run — in that you start off with a certain set figure to spend and as you progress in the job, you find that you are spending more and more and more money than originally planned.

The construction of our larger store is going to run into approximately $15,000 more than originally planned, and this is how it comes about. . . We built a full basement underneath the building with the intention that this basement would be for storage and storage only. I find it convenient rather than using our basement for storage that we make a downstairs store out of it and that requires a great deal more expense because we have a ceiling to put up and nice lighting to install, and regular store fixtures where we were only going to have storage bins, but I have no regrets in spending that money because in making our basement a downstairs store, we are going to have an additional three thousand square feet of retail space which we will well be able to use.

The original plans included 4 x 10 sheet rock walls and ceiling, taped and painted. Instead of that, I didn't care for the looks of a sheet rock wall and ceiling and I decided on sheet rock and plaster on top. Also we are going to have a sound-proof store, in that we are installing a complete acoustical tile ceiling.

I wasn't going to do any work in the front present store, but I find that it was smarter for me to tear down the old metal ceiling because a great deal of it had to come down to install new lighting anyway. I wasn't going to install new lighting, in fact, but now I am going to continue the same lighting in the front that is going in the rear of the store, and the same acoustical tile ceiling is going to go throughout the store.

Where I was only going to put three rows of lighting, I have now decided to put in four rows of lighting because I believe in the maximum amount of lighting in the store for correct display of merchandise.

All these things cost money. In addition, we are adding two new departments of merchandise to the six departments of merchandise that we now carry. I cannot, as yet, divulge the types of departments they will be — we'll leave that for surprise.

This television sale comes out of all the above reasons. We carry a heavy television inventory and because of the added building expense, and because of the new departments of merchandise stocks that we have to buy, we must reduce our television inventory to balance with the rest of the stocks in the other departments.

I explain all this to you so that you will realize this is a genuine, sincere sale, and so that you will act while the sale is on and get yourself one of these television sets during this tremendous sensational allowance sale.

Thank you for reading all this, and thank you for your time. It is my intention to make this sale last only for a short period because I cannot have it interfere with our inside store remodeling. Act fast, this sale will run only ten days, until May 5th.

*Follow These Posture Tips

If you frequently feel tired, poor posture may be to blame, says Movie Star Carla Balenda. Good body mechanics help lessen fatigue, she has found.

By HELEN FOLLETT

GOOD posture begins in the mind. Keep your head balanced, backbone extended to the limit, chest high, abdomen in and up. Don't overlook the "up" part. You will be carrying out the right idea for better health, appearance and efficiency. Good body mechanics help to lessen fatigue. You can work harder and longer, with less weariness if you keep your muscles where they belong instead of letting some of them work and some of them loaf.

Money-fingers chase hither and yon to find smart frocks and coats and pretty shoes. What do these items mean if they are not worn with splendor? Many a woman who has a reputation as a lady of fashion is given that mark of distinction because she carries her body beautifully.

Away From Bones

A woman carries her weight around all day and, to do that without getting worn to a frazzle, she must carry it properly. Poor posture takes part of the weight away from the bones and loads it on the ligaments. That "tired feeling" is, in part, a protest against poor body mechanics. That is one reason why physicians get so many complaints about backache; why the reception rooms of chiropodists and pedal specialists are crowded with sad-faced women who hobble because their feet hurt them.

Let the spinal column loiter on the job and, in course of time, you will have a figure like a letter S. Not only that, you will have an ugly bulge about the waistline because the muscles there have gone slack.

The heavyweight, especially, should pull herself up and maintain full height, because correct stance keeps the musculature in good condition; on strong fibers fat cells will not multiply.

Teachers of physical education deplore the slouchy walk of young girls who fancy that pose is arty. It is ruinous to grace.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

GETTING caught in a cooking rut can be avoided if you turn your back on stand-by recipes used year after year without changes. Think of your cooking as a means of creating those different-tasting dishes which lift your family out of dinner-table boredom.

Spices are an important factor in preparing meals to delight the collective palates in your home. Just as a small quantity of a chemical added to a compound can change the entire characteristics of that compound, so will the judicious use of spices turn many run-of-the-mill dishes into real treats.

As an example of the transformation from routine to exceptional, the A & P Service for Homemakers refers you to the common meat ball which reaches the table as a Danish meat ball.

To make this simple, tasty meat dish, soak three slices of bread in cold water. Press them dry and then crumble. Mix into the bread one and one-half pounds of ground beef, one finely minced onion, one-quarter teaspoon of powdered mace, one-eighth teaspoon of pepper, one-half teaspoon of salt. Shape into small balls, flour and brown in four teaspoons of melted fat in a heavy frying pan or Dutch oven. Add one-half cup of hot water, cover and cook slowly for one-half hour. Thicken gravy in pan and serve with mashed potatoes and string beans.

Spices also add taste thrills to many desserts, too. Cinnamon makes ice cream more delicious. Cinnamon ice cream is prepared by mixing together one pint of vanilla ice cream and one-half pint of chocolate. Add one and one-half teaspoons of cinnamon and mix thoroughly. Refreeze in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator over night.

BERENICE KOHLER'S HIT WINS THE GAME

Berenice Kohler's hit in the eleventh inning gave the Delhaas High girls' hockey team a 5-4 win over Pennsbury High's girls yesterday afternoon on the Township field.

Kohler's hit drove in Marion Hope who had singled and then stole second and third. The winning base knock brought an end to the four extra innings nip-and-tuck affair with Pennsbury being blanked from the sixth to the 11th and Delhaas from the fifth until the deciding tally crossed the plate.

It was the second straight Lower Bucks County League victory for Coach Struble's lassies as last week they turned in a one-sided 15-4 win over Bensalem.

In yesterday's tilt, Florence Hope cracked out a home run in the second. No one was on base at the time.

Peggy Bushnell and Joan Fries pitched for Delhaas with the latter being credited with the win.

have been passed by the County Commissioners of Bucks, Montgomery and Delaware counties, in a move initiated by Montgomery county.

The amendment depriving the city and county of Philadelphia of the right of eminent domain for water works purposes in the adjoining counties is designed specifically to block a proposed reservoir in the Warrington and Horsham areas of Bucks county which would cover 4,000 acres and part of Montgomery county.

The reservoir would be part of the Delaware River project, long contemplated by Philadelphia, by which the upper Delaware River would be dammed at Wallpack Bend. The water would be carried 80 miles to the Warrington Reservoir through a tunnel cut in rock. The Philadelphia Water Company approved such a project several years ago and estimated it would cost about $315,000,000 at that time.

MARIAN KEMP'S RECIPE CONTEST

By MARIAN KEMP

Director, American Stores Co. Home Service Bureau

Star of DIVIDENDS FOR HOMEMAKERS—1:30 P. M.—WCAU-TV

MRS. ISAAC HECKLER, of North Wales, is this week's winner of the Dividends For Homemakers Recipe Contest. The jelly roll Mrs. Heckler submitted won over those of the other contestants.

Mrs. Albert Feldman, 414 Mt. Vernon Street, Lansdale, and Mrs. Irvin G. Stringfellow, 913 MacAdam Street, Chester, are members of organizations in the Philadelphia area, and they entered the jelly roll baking contest as representatives of their women's groups. Each received a check for $25 from the American Stores Company—checks which will be used for important work being done by their organizations.

Contest judges were Elizabeth Miller, chief dietitian of Philadelphia General Hospital and Lena Warren, Beaver College dietitian. While they sampled and judged the jelly rolls, we discussed the recipe of my guest contestants and talked about the work of the club groups they represent.

Mrs. Heckler's recipe was chosen, as the judges decided the jelly roll she made was best in texture, uniformity, and taste. Here is her recipe:

3 eggs
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cold water
1 cup sifted cake flour
1/3 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla, if desired
Jelly or jam for filling

Mrs. Heckler represented the Montgomeryville Homemakers' Group, 25 or 30 women who do welfare work in her area. Her check will be divided and given to three agencies which they help—the Community Hospital at Lansdale, The Needlework Guild, and the Cancer Crusade. Mrs. Heckler has always baked, since her marriage 34 years ago. She had not recently baked a jelly roll, however, and her family helped her to test and decide on a recipe to enter in the contest.

Mrs. Albert Feldman represented the Lansdale West Ward Parent Teachers Association, one of three P.T.A. groups in Lansdale which are sharing the expense of a lamp for use in their Dental Clinic. The clinic, started in 1923 by a local dentist who did most of the work himself, now serves children of the community who cannot afford private dental attention. Pointing out that good teeth are important both physically and cosmetically, Mrs. Feldman said her check would pay part of the $90 cost of the lamp.

Mrs. Irvin Stringfellow, representing St. Paul's Episcopal Women's Auxiliary of Chester, explained that her check would add to the fund being raised to remodel two small rooms in the Parish House, making one large reception room. She had never made a jelly roll before, and with the help of friends, procured her recipe and prepared her entry for the contest.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

SPRINGTIME is lamb time—astronomically speaking—the time when lamb prices are the most appealing and the tender meat the most appetizing. Roast leg of lamb is an old favorite and is recommended for your Sunday dinner by the A & P Service for Homemakers.

Have the shank bone removed from a leg of lamb weighing between five and six pounds. Before placing it fat side up on the rack of an uncovered roasting pan, rub the meat thoroughly with one and one-half teaspoons of salt and one-fourth teaspoon of pepper. Then roast in a moderately slow oven (325 degrees) 30 minutes to the pound. Cover the lamb with pineapple slices one hour before meat is done. Brush with butter so pineapple will brown.

Creamed potatoes and buttered lima beans go well with lamb. To prepare the potatoes, put two cups of diced, cold, cooked potatoes into a skillet into which two tablespoons of butter have been melted. Season with salt and pepper and nearly cover with milk. Simmer uncovered until milk is absorbed, tilting pan occasionally and basting top of potatoes with milk.

Here's a recipe for apple meringue pudding to top off your dinner. Cover the bottom and sides of a baking pan with toasted bread wet with hot milk. Core, peel and cook 12 medium apples; sweeten with sugar and flavor with nutmeg. Beat the yolks of three eggs with a little sugar and mix with the apples. Pour into baking pan on the bread. Cover with stiffly beaten whites of eggs and bake in moderately slow (325 degrees) oven three to five minutes.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

BY JOE ELBERSON

Believe it, or not... there are trout in the Canal.

A 12-inch rainbow was taken from the Two-Mile Lock last Sunday by Jack Schwartz. He was accompanied by a Mr. Weisman and Paul Brown, well-known in local educational circles. Brown was the source of information for this story. He claims the fish was positively identified, not only by Schwartz, who is an old-time trout fisherman, but also by other interested anglers. I didn't see the fish.

Schwartz and his two companions all were fishing with garden huckle and had taken several bluegills when the trout struck.

How the trout came to be in the Canal is something I cannot explain. It is an established fact of long standing, however, that this species of fish must have the purest kind of water to survive, and the rainbow was said to be in excellent condition. And this will bear out a statement made in this column several years ago that the water of the Canal is far more pure than either the Delaware or Silver Lake. This view I still hold, in spite of contrary expressions of opinion by such persons as Burgess Hetherington, former president of Council, Rathke, former Burgess Schmidt, Inspector Delker, contractor Nelson, borough water committee chairman Roche, attorney Eastburn and others.

Proper maintenance, proper policing by the agencies charged with that responsibility, and a proper share for expenditure in this area of the funds allocated at Harrisburg each biennium, would do much towards restoring this waterway which holds so much in aesthetic, historical and recreational potentials.

Some discussions have been held in recent months relative to filling in the extreme lower stretches of the Canal (from Washington St. or Jefferson Avenue to the overflow in back of the Grand Theater) in the interest of better traffic conditions, the thought being that the filled in bed of the Canal in that section would provide another traffic artery which would relieve present congestion in that area. When the time arrives for serious discussion of this project I will most heartily concur, and I'm sure that the vast majority of anglers in this section will do likewise in the interest of improved traffic conditions.

Scientific Joe... to different people different signs indicate the approach of Spring and the fishing season. Some depend on the appearance of the first robin in this area, others on the appearance of the daffodil. And to many others the appearance of Third Ward Joe McGinley, digging worms in back of the Borough Parking Lot, meant Spring and fishing time had arrived.

This year Joe didn't make his usual appearance in March. After several more weeks and no Joe, a check was made. Here's what we discovered: Joe had discarded all his former means of calculating the arrival of Spring in favor of a new barometer which he acquired during the winter months. Guided by this instrument and a new special fishing calendar Joe did not venture out until mid-April.

For duck hunters... from the current issue of the Federation News, the official publication of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, comes this item:

"Duck hunters in eastern Pennsylvania may be interested in the recent letter mailed out by Edward T. Balderston, of Bordentown Ferry Road, Morrisville...

"For several years past," reads Balderston's note, "many of the duck hunters in eastern Pennsylvania have felt that the seasons, regulations, etc., set by the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service in conjunction with the State Game Commission have been far from desirable."

Sportsmen interested in forming an organization of eastern hunters are asked to contact Balderston.

Nice catch... from Elmer Storms, Croydon, comes this report of a carp catch on the Neshauney Creek at Bridgewater last Sunday: a Philadelphia with five carp, with a combined weight of approximately 50 pounds.
